

Author Bio
Christina Semple

A native of Atlanta and recent graduate of Clayton State University, Christina Semple will pursue a graduate degree in psychology to help children in perhaps the greatest need: those that have been abused, neglected, and misunderstood. Through writing, she continues to create children's activities and adult workshops with spiritual themes to help others express their true selves in whatever form that takes.